

This agreement is between	Vantage Career Center	School District and the University of Northwestern Ohio	for the 2019-2020 school year.

The University of Northwestern Ohio is participating in the College Credit Plus program for UNOH courses taught online and on the University campus by University professors.

Eligibility Requirements

Students interested in participating in the UNOH College Credit Plus program must: submit an application indicating interest in College Credit Plus, meet the standards for the college readiness test, and request official high school transcripts be sent to UNOH for evaluation. Some courses will require placement testing before coursework can begin.

Textbooks & Supplies

It is the responsibility of the Vantage Career Center School District to provide participating student(s) with the textbooks and supplemental materials for the course(s) the student(s) is/are enrolled in. For information on the cost of these materials, please reference the recommended courses list within this agreement. Pens, paper, notebooks, calculators, and other personal items are not included in the required course materials. Students must purchase and provide those materials themselves.

Fees

No application fee or general fees will be charged by the University of Northwestern Ohio

Exclusivity

All students who take courses for college credit must be enrolled at the University of Northwestern Ohio. No student may participate in these courses and receive credit from another institution of higher education for the same courses.

College Credit Plus Policies & Procedures

Admission requirements, application, and registration procedures and additional information about the University of Northwestern Ohio's College Credit Plus program are included in the Program Description available at www.unoh.edu/CollegeCreditPlus. This information is also provided to school district personnel.

Recommended Courses

Students Taking Courses On-Campus or Online

The University of Northwestern Ohio has compiled a list of recommended courses for students to enroll in as part of the University of Northwestern Ohio College Credit Plus program. Courses in the College of Applied Technologies are not available in the College Credit Plus program. The course list can be found at the end of the agreement.

Tuition for students from Vantage Career Center School District who choose to take course on-campus or online at the University of Northwestern Ohio will be charged by the University and pai by the Secondary School District for academic year 2019-2020 for courses delivered will fall under the default tuition structure as established in the College Credit Plus legislation. The fees will equal the floor amount to be determined by College Credit Plus legislation.
This tuition will be paid to the University of Northwestern Ohio by the Department of Education in accordance with the adopted rules and procedures of the College Credit Plus program. The University will waive fees for these students. Textbooks and supplemental materials will be provided by the School District. The University will not bill participants for any portion of the set tuition rate.
This agreement will not be used by either the University of Northwestern Ohio or the school district to limit participation of a student enrolling in courses not part of this agreement.
Superintendent's Name (printed):
Superintendent's Signature:
Date:
Principal's Name (printed):
Principal's Signature:
Date:
University Representative's Name (printed):
University Representative's Signature:
Date:
University of Northwestern O
Office of Admission

University of Northwestern Ohio Office of Admissions 1441 N. Cable Rd. Lima, OH 45805 (419)998-8889

College Credit Plus at UNOH

Recommended Classes:

given in journalizing and posting accounts, periodic adjustments, closing entries, financial state preparation, special journals, and cash controls. Agribusiness Fundamentals decision making. BU109 Customer Service Introduction to Human Communication DP117 Database Applications Applications Applications Spreadsheet Applications Spreadsheet Applications Spreadsheet operations and including a persuasion essay. EN200 Composition II Students will apply the writing process to devaluating, problem solving, and responding literature. KY146 Keyboarding I Students are given a review of the keyboard and are introduced to vertical and horizontal centering, tables, placement and style of letters, reports and the new systems concept of management. The planning, organization, leadership and control functions of management are analyzed in detail. MT150 Principles of Management Suiness Math Business Math Business Math Business Math Business math and cash discounts, marketing mix, segmentation, targeting, position, targeting, problem analysis of the familiar management principles and the new systems concept of management. The planning, organization, leadership and control functions of management are analyzed in detail. MT150 Principles of The philosophy of marketing is introduced. Key topics will include the 4 P's of the marketing mix, segmentation, targeting, positioning, and the economics of pricing marketing mix, segmentation, targeting, positioning, and the economics of pricing marketing mix, segmentation, targeting, positioning, and the economics of pricing marketing mix, segmentation, targeting, positioning, and the economics of pricing marketing mix, segmentation, targeting, positioning, and the economics of pricing marketing mix, segmentation, targeting, positioning	AC114	Accounting	Ctudents receive a basic knowledge of the accounting equation. Instruction will be
Students are introduced to the methods and procedures used by agribusiness in decision making.	AC114	Accounting I	Students receive a basic knowledge of the accounting equation. Instruction will be AG106 Agribusiness Agribusiness Fundamentals decision making.
Fundamentals Decision making. The course provides students with an understanding of customer service. Customer needs and wants, values, trends, customer psychology, customer behavior, customer satisfaction, service performance, quality improvement, and use of information to improve business decisions are covered.
BU109 Customer Service The course provides students with an understanding of customer service. Customer needs and wants, values, trends, customer psychology, customer behavior, customer satisfaction, service performance, quality improvement, and use of information to improve business decisions are covered.	AG106		· needs and wants, values, trends, customer psychology, customer behavior, customer satisfaction, service performance, quality improvement, and use of information to improve business decisions are covered. CO179 Introduction to Human Communication: Interopersonal communication, nonverbal communication, small groud dynamics, and public communications. DP117 Database Applications Access is used to illustrate relational databases and the manipulation will be presented. Microsoft Applications Access is used to illustrate relational database concepts. EN180 Composition I This introductory course exposed students to a wide variety of fundamental electronic spreadsheet operations and functions through business-related applications. EN200 Composition II Students will apply the writing process to draft, revise, and edit a variety of short essa supporting a main idea, including a persuasion essay. EN2146 Keyboarding I Students are given a review of the keyboard and are introduced to vertical and horizontal centering, tables, placement and style of letters, reports and memoranda. MA121 Principles of Management This course combines the analysis of the familiar management principles and the new systems concept of management. The planning, organization, leadership and control functions of management are analyzed in detail. MT150 Principles of Marketing Business Math Business math applications are studied and include banking, business statistics, trade and cash discounts, markup and markdown, payroll, simple and compound interest, consumer credit, annuities and sinking funds, mortgages, depreciation and inventory valuations. PS274 The American Political Scene Introduction to Psychology is designed to introduce the concept require for the study social perceptions, conditions, learning, intelligence, motivations, emotions, and personality. This course serves as an introduction to the biological and ecological aspects of environmental science.
Satisfaction, service performance, quality improvement, and use of information to improve business decisions are covered. CO179	BU109	Customer Service	, ·
CO179
Introduction to Human
Human Communication: interpersonal communication, nonverbal communication, small group dynamics, and public communications. DP150			·
DP117 Database	CO179
DP150
Applications Access is used to illustrate relational database concepts.
DP150 Spreadsheet Applications Spreadsheet Applications Students will apply the writing process to draft, revise, and edit a variety of short essa supporting a main idea, including a persuasion essay.	DP117
Applications Spreadsheet operations and functions through business-related applications.
EN180 Composition I Students will apply the writing process to draft, revise, and edit a variety of short essal supporting a main idea, including a persuasion essay. EN200 Composition II This course will build on skills from EN180 as students apply the writing process to evaluating, problem solving, and responding literature. KY146 Keyboarding I Students are given a review of the keyboard and are introduced to vertical and horizontal centering, tables, placement and style of letters, reports and memoranda. MA121 Principles of Management This course combines the analysis of the familiar management principles and the new systems concept of management. The planning, organization, leadership and control functions of management are analyzed in detail. MT150 Principles of Marketing The philosophy of marketing is introduced. Key topics will include the 4 P's of the marketing mix, segmentation, targeting, positioning, and the economics of pricing Business math applications are studied and include banking, business statistics, trade and cash discounts, markup and markdown, payroll, simple and compound interest, consumer credit, annuities and sinking funds, mortgages, depreciation and inventory valuations. PS274 The American Political Scene This course is designed to inform students about government and politics in America. PY177 Introduction to Psychology is designed to introduce the concept require for the study social perceptions, conditions, learning, intelligence, motivations, emotions, and personality. SC200 Principles of Ecology This course serves as an introduction to the biological and ecological aspects of environmental science. SO186 Sociology The introductory approach to the field of sociology, topics include a study of the	DP150	•	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·
Supporting a main idea, including a persuasion essay. EN200 Composition II This course will build on skills from EN180 as students apply the writing process to evaluating, problem solving, and responding literature. KY146 Keyboarding I Students are given a review of the keyboard and are introduced to vertical and horizontal centering, tables, placement and style of letters, reports and memoranda. MA121 Principles of Management This course combines the analysis of the familiar management principles and the new systems concept of management. The planning, organization, leadership and control functions of management are analyzed in detail. MT150 Principles of Marketing The philosophy of marketing is introduced. Key topics will include the 4 P's of the marketing mix, segmentation, targeting, positioning, and the economics of pricing MH169 Business Math Business math applications are studied and include banking, business statistics, trade and cash discounts, markup and markdown, payroll, simple and compound interest, consumer credit, annuities and sinking funds, mortgages, depreciation and inventory valuations. PS274 The American Political Scene Introduction to Psychology is designed to introduce the concept require for the study social perceptions, conditions, learning, intelligence, motivations, emotions, and personality. SC200 Principles of Ecology This course serves as an introduction to the biological and ecological aspects of environmental science. Sociology The introductory approach to the field of sociology, topics include a study of the
This course will build on skills from EN180 as students apply the writing process to evaluating, problem solving, and responding literature. Keyboarding Students are given a review of the keyboard and are introduced to vertical and horizontal centering, tables, placement and style of letters, reports and memoranda. MA121	EN180	Composition I
Evaluating, problem solving, and responding literature.
KY146 Keyboarding I Students are given a review of the keyboard and are introduced to vertical and horizontal centering, tables, placement and style of letters, reports and memoranda. MA121 Principles of Management This course combines the analysis of the familiar management principles and the new systems concept of management. The planning, organization, leadership and control functions of management are analyzed in detail. MT150 Principles of Marketing The philosophy of marketing is introduced. Key topics will include the 4 P's of the marketing mix, segmentation, targeting, positioning, and the economics of pricing Business Math Business math applications are studied and include banking, business statistics, trade and cash discounts, markup and markdown, payroll, simple and compound interest, consumer credit, annuities and sinking funds, mortgages, depreciation and inventory valuations. The American Political Scene Introduction to Psychology is designed to introduce the concept require for the study social perceptions, conditions, learning, intelligence, motivations, emotions, and personality. This course serves as an introduction to the biological and ecological aspects of environmental science. The introductory approach to the field of sociology, topics include a study of the	EN200	Composition II	This course will build on skills from EN180 as students apply the writing process to horizontal centering, tables, placement and style of letters, reports and memoranda. MA121 Principles of Management This course combines the analysis of the familiar management principles and the new systems concept of management. The planning, organization, leadership and control functions of management are analyzed in detail. MT150 Principles of Marketing The philosophy of marketing is introduced. Key topics will include the 4 P's of the marketing mix, segmentation, targeting, positioning, and the economics of pricing Business Math Business math applications are studied and include banking, business statistics, trade and cash discounts, markup and markdown, payroll, simple and compound interest, consumer credit, annuities and sinking funds, mortgages, depreciation and inventory valuations. The American Political Scene Introduction to Psychology is designed to introduce the concept require for the study social perceptions, conditions, learning, intelligence, motivations, emotions, and personality. SC200 Principles of Ecology This course serves as an introduction to the biological and ecological aspects of environmental science. Sociology The introductory approach to the field of sociology, topics include a study of the			evaluating, problem solving, and responding literature.
MA121 Principles of Management This course combines the analysis of the familiar management principles and the new systems concept of management. The planning, organization, leadership and control functions of management are analyzed in detail. MT150 Principles of Marketing The philosophy of marketing is introduced. Key topics will include the 4 P's of the marketing mix, segmentation, targeting, positioning, and the economics of pricing Business Math Business math applications are studied and include banking, business statistics, trade and cash discounts, markup and markdown, payroll, simple and compound interest, consumer credit, annuities and sinking funds, mortgages, depreciation and inventory valuations. The American Political Scene Introduction to Psychology is designed to introduce the concept require for the study social perceptions, conditions, learning, intelligence, motivations, emotions, and personality. SC200 Principles of Ecology This course serves as an introduction to the biological and ecological aspects of environmental science. SO186 Sociology The introductory approach to the field of sociology, topics include a study of the	KY146	Keyboarding I	Students are given a review of the keyboard and are introduced to vertical and Management systems concept of management. The planning, organization, leadership and control functions of management are analyzed in detail. MT150 Principles of Marketing The philosophy of marketing is introduced. Key topics will include the 4 P's of the marketing mix, segmentation, targeting, positioning, and the economics of pricing Business Math Business math applications are studied and include banking, business statistics, trade and cash discounts, markup and markdown, payroll, simple and compound interest, consumer credit, annuities and sinking funds, mortgages, depreciation and inventory valuations. This course is designed to inform students about government and politics in America. Political Scene PY177 Introduction to Psychology is designed to introduce the concept require for the study social perceptions, conditions, learning, intelligence, motivations, emotions, and personality. SC200 Principles of Ecology This course serves as an introduction to the biological and ecological aspects of environmental science. SO186 Sociology The introductory approach to the field of sociology, topics include a study of the			horizontal centering, tables, placement and style of letters, reports and memoranda.
functions of management are analyzed in detail. MT150 Principles of Marketing MH169 Business Math Business Math PS274 The American Political Scene PY177 Introduction to Psychology Psychology SC200 Principles of Ecology Functions of management are analyzed in detail. The philosophy of marketing is introduced. Key topics will include the 4 P's of the marketing mix, segmentation, targeting, positioning, and the economics of pricing Business Math Business Math Business Math Business math applications are studied and include banking, business statistics, trade and cash discounts, markup and markdown, payroll, simple and compound interest, consumer credit, annuities and sinking funds, mortgages, depreciation and inventory valuations. This course is designed to inform students about government and politics in America. Introduction to Psychology is designed to introduce the concept require for the study social perceptions, conditions, learning, intelligence, motivations, emotions, and personality. SC200 This course serves as an introduction to the biological and ecological aspects of environmental science. SO186 Sociology The introductory approach to the field of sociology, topics include a study of the	MA121	Principles of	This course combines the analysis of the familiar management principles and the new
MT150 Principles of Marketing Marketing is introduced. Key topics will include the 4 P's of the marketing mix, segmentation, targeting, positioning, and the economics of pricing Business Math Business Math Business math applications are studied and include banking, business statistics, trade and cash discounts, markup and markdown, payroll, simple and compound interest, consumer credit, annuities and sinking funds, mortgages, depreciation and inventory valuations. The American Political Scene PY177 Introduction to Psychology is designed to inform students about government and politics in America. Introduction to Psychology is designed to introduce the concept require for the study social perceptions, conditions, learning, intelligence, motivations, emotions, and personality. SC200 Principles of Ecology This course serves as an introduction to the biological and ecological aspects of environmental science. SO186 Sociology The introductory approach to the field of sociology, topics include a study of the		Management	systems concept of management. The planning, organization, leadership and control
MH169 Business Math Business math applications are studied and include banking, business statistics, trade and cash discounts, markup and markdown, payroll, simple and compound interest, consumer credit, annuities and sinking funds, mortgages, depreciation and inventory valuations. PS274 The American Political Scene PY177 Introduction to Psychology is designed to introduce the concept require for the study social perceptions, conditions, learning, intelligence, motivations, emotions, and personality. SC200 Principles of Ecology This course serves as an introduction to the biological and ecological aspects of environmental science. SO186 Sociology The introductory approach to the field of sociology, topics include a study of the			functions of management are analyzed in detail.
Halfor Business Math Business math applications are studied and include banking, business statistics, trade and cash discounts, markup and markdown, payroll, simple and compound interest, consumer credit, annuities and sinking funds, mortgages, depreciation and inventory valuations. The American Political Scene PY177 Introduction to Psychology is designed to introduce the concept require for the study social perceptions, conditions, learning, intelligence, motivations, emotions, and personality. SC200 Principles of Ecology This course serves as an introduction to the biological and ecological aspects of environmental science. SO186 Sociology The introductory approach to the field of sociology, topics include a study of the	MT150	Principles of	The philosophy of marketing is introduced. Key topics will include the 4 P's of the and cash discounts, markup and markdown, payroll, simple and compound interest, consumer credit, annuities and sinking funds, mortgages, depreciation and inventory valuations. PS274 The American Political Scene PY177 Introduction to Psychology is designed to introduce the concept require for the study social perceptions, conditions, learning, intelligence, motivations, emotions, and personality. SC200 Principles of Ecology This course serves as an introduction to the biological and ecological aspects of environmental science. SO186 Sociology The introductory approach to the field of sociology, topics include a study of the		Marketing	marketing mix, segmentation, targeting, positioning, and the economics of pricing
Consumer credit, annuities and sinking funds, mortgages, depreciation and inventory valuations. PS274 The American Political Scene PY177 Introduction to Psychology is designed to introduce the concept require for the study social perceptions, conditions, learning, intelligence, motivations, emotions, and personality. SC200 Principles of Ecology SO186 Sociology The introductory approach to the field of sociology, topics include a study of the	MH169	Business Math	Business math applications are studied and include banking, business statistics, trade
PS274 The American Political Scene PY177 Introduction to Psychology SC200 Principles of Ecology SO186 Sociology Valuations. This course is designed to inform students about government and politics in America. This course is designed to introduce the concept require for the study social perceptions, conditions, learning, intelligence, motivations, emotions, and personality. This course serves as an introduction to the biological and ecological aspects of environmental science. The introductory approach to the field of sociology, topics include a study of the			and cash discounts, markup and markdown, payroll, simple and compound interest,
PS274 The American Political Scene PY177 Introduction to Psychology SC200 Principles of Ecology SO186 Sociology This course is designed to inform students about government and politics in America. Introduction to Psychology is designed to introduce the concept require for the study social perceptions, conditions, learning, intelligence, motivations, emotions, and personality. This course serves as an introduction to the biological and ecological aspects of environmental science. The introductory approach to the field of sociology, topics include a study of the			consumer credit, annuities and sinking funds, mortgages, depreciation and inventory
PY177 Introduction to Psychology is designed to introduce the concept require for the study social perceptions, conditions, learning, intelligence, motivations, emotions, and personality. SC200 Principles of Ecology This course serves as an introduction to the biological and ecological aspects of environmental science. SO186 Sociology The introductory approach to the field of sociology, topics include a study of the			valuations.
PY177 Introduction to Psychology is designed to introduce the concept require for the study social perceptions, conditions, learning, intelligence, motivations, emotions, and personality. SC200 Principles of Ecology This course serves as an introduction to the biological and ecological aspects of environmental science. SO186 Sociology The introductory approach to the field of sociology, topics include a study of the	PS274	The American	This course is designed to inform students about government and politics in America.
Psychology social perceptions, conditions, learning, intelligence, motivations, emotions, and personality. SC200 Principles of Ecology This course serves as an introduction to the biological and ecological aspects of environmental science. SO186 Sociology The introductory approach to the field of sociology, topics include a study of the		Political Scene personality. SC200 Principles of Ecology SO186 Sociology Principles of Ecology This course serves as an introduction to the biological and ecological aspects of environmental science. The introductory approach to the field of sociology, topics include a study of the	PY177	Introduction to	Introduction to Psychology is designed to introduce the concept require for the study of SC200 Principles of Ecology SO186 Sociology This course serves as an introduction to the biological and ecological aspects of environmental science. The introductory approach to the field of sociology, topics include a study of the		Psychology	social perceptions, conditions, learning, intelligence, motivations, emotions, and
Ecology environmental science. SO186 Sociology The introductory approach to the field of sociology, topics include a study of the			personality.
SO186 Sociology The introductory approach to the field of sociology, topics include a study of the	SC200	Principles of	This course serves as an introduction to the biological and ecological aspects of , , , ,		Ecology	environmental science.
individuals' behavior in diverse social groups.	SO186	Sociology	The introductory approach to the field of sociology, topics include a study of the individuals' behavior in diverse social groups.
UN220 Introduction to Students will explore topics related to diversity in the United States today, such as rac	UN220	Introduction to	Students will explore topics related to diversity in the United States today, such as race,
Diversity Issues class, religion, sex, and gender.		Diversity Issues	class, religion, sex, and gender.
WP138 Introduction to This is an introductory course in the use of Microsoft Word. Students will also be	WP138	Introduction to
Work Processing introduced to file management concepts.		Work Processing	introduced to file management concepts.