Dear Mr. Turner: The American Legion would like for you and the staff to know how much we appreciated the Construction Equipment Technologies efforts on our behalf. We had a handicap ramp that was black top and a large chunk had broken off which made it unsafe for our members and the general public. Their instructor, Chris, and his aide, Deb, were kind enough to accept our request for their class to replace this ramp with concrete and a railing. We thought it was right up their alley for work and educational experience and they had no problems with the project.

Even though the students were only Seniors their workmanship was second to no one. Lots of nice compliments from our membership about the outstanding job they did. I observed them each work day and even gave some pointers that probably weren't needed but the students listened and didn't question my method. Chris was on top of everything and it was good for me to observe his technique and his ability to instruct his students and then for them to engage in the work in the manner that they were instructed to do. High quality workmanship and a good work ethic that will go along way for them after graduation.

In closing, we shared photos on the internet and with thevwindependent.com internet site to give Vantage some great publicity and also to award the students some public recognition for their work. I believe in Vantage and know this type of learning will be a large asset to them once they enter the workforce. Thanks so much for this program and their high-quality instructor and aide.

Sincerely,
